What the Day Heralds

Continuing marginal decrease in unemployment... In November the unemployment rate fell slightly to 11.0%, thereby comparing favorably to 13.1% in November 2009. The labor force participation rate came in at 48.6%, above 48.1% in November 2009, while non-farm unemployment fell to 13.7% from 16.2% a year before. The seasonally-adjusted employment figure published by TURKSTAT, at 11.2%, indicates that unemployment has declined in November when compared to the 13.3% level of the year before.

Comment: The slight decrease in unemployment continued in November. Yet the current 11.0% level remains too high, and rigidity in Turkey's high unemployment rate, despite robust growth momentum, is mainly due to structural problems of the Turkish economy. This raises the question of the sustainability of Turkey's high economic growth rate. The economy recovered sharply in 2010, and is expected to finalize the year on growth of around 8%.

However, such a high growth rate has not created sufficient jobs. Hot money flows resulting in Lira appreciation have increased cheap imports, thus benefiting job growth elsewhere, but causing Turkey's current account deficit to rise to US$ 48.6 bn, or 6.4% of GDP in 2010. The Central Bank has recently imposed measures to ease credit growth and prevent further Lira appreciation. However, these measures alone are also unlikely to solve Turkey's unemployment problem. Further measures, including an easing of the tax burden on employers, and job market flexibility, must be introduced to truly address the country's jobless growth problem. (See our Macro Note: Labor Force Statistics- November 2010 of Feb. 14.)

Robust January budget kick off... The Central government budget produced a TL1.0 bn surplus in January; while the primary surplus totaled TL 4.8 bn. Budget revenues rose by 20.4% y/y, due mainly to a 14.2% rise in tax receipts. In contrast, expenditures shed 0.7%. Meanwhile, non-interest expenditures rose by 12.9% y/y to TL 18.7 bn in January. Budget revenues registered at TL 23.5 bn, with related expenditures of TL 22.5 bn in January. Therefore, the budget posted a surplus of TL 1.0bn, rising by 132.2% year-on-year.

Comment: The budget posted a TL 1.0 bn surplus in January. The signal of this robust result had already been seen in the robust performance of the Treasury's cash balance realizations released last week- a good indicator of the central government budget. The year-end budget deficit target for 2011 is at TL 33.5 bn, and thus we conclude that this is a good kick off in terms of meeting the 2011 target.

Wait and see stance- as expected... The CBT kept policy rate as expected at 6.25%. Moreover, the committee has kept O/N borrowing and lending rates at 1.50% and 9.0% respectively- in addition to overnight lending rate to primary dealers which is at 8.0%. Furthermore, late liquidity window facility (which, banks borrow from the Central Bank against collateral) and lending rates have been kept at 0% and 12% respectively. The committee has mentioned that the recently declared economic indicators regarding the economic activity are in line with the outlook mentioned in the January Inflation Report. MPC statement also emphasized that recovery in the economic activity is continuing, thanks to the domestic demand, and external demand started to gain ground recently but still at low levels.

It has been also mentioned that the employment sector is recovering but the unemployment level is still at high levels. Consequently, annual inflation in February is expected to slightly decline further and be volatile starting from second quarter onwards. The Bank expects the year end inflation to be realized in line with the expectations in the January Inflation report which is at 5.9% level. In addition, it has been also underlined that effects of measures applied helped in reducing the import demands- balancing the total demand, therefore decreasing the financial risks. Lastly, it has been put forward that the measures are also effective in limiting the inflation risks derived by domestic demand but increase in energy and other commodity prices are applying some pressure on inflation.

Comments: The Central Bank adopted a wait-and-see stance, by keeping the policy rate and reserve requirement ratios at current levels- as expected, at today's MPC meeting. We expect the Central Bank to keep interest rates at current levels until the second half of 2011- as inflationary pressures are expected to start kicking in thereafter. The relatively peaceful transition period towards civilian rule in Egypt is good news for regional economies. However, further unrest in the region is likely to increase geopolitical risks in Middle Eastern and Northern Africa countries (MENA), while pressuring oil prices, and adding up to inflationary expectations. In addition, a possible rise in wheat prices is likely to fuel inflationary expectations. As a result, the Central Bank of Turkey may be forced to tighten monetary policy earlier than expected. And of course, tighter monetary policy implies higher yields, which is in turn negative for both growth and the stock market. We stick to our year end policy rate call standing at 7.0%- which means 75 bps rate-hike in 2011. (See our Macro Note: Monetary Policy Meeting- February 2011, of Feb. 14.)

US$ 8.9 bn FDI in 2010... Net international direct investment inflow amounted to US$ 1.9 bn in December 2010. The equity investment inflow, which represents the equity share transfers of international investors for their new or existing companies in Turkey, and for their participation in existing domestic companies, was at US$ 1.8 bn. Of this, US$ 1.4 mn went into electricity, gas and water supply sector. Meanwhile, US$ 1.6 bn of the US$ 1.8 bn equity investment was exported by EU countries. The net international direct investment inflow registered at US$ 8.9 bn in 2010. The equity investment inflow component of international direct investment inflows (net) reached US$ 6.3 bn in 2010.

Pegasus to apply to go public... According to daily Milliyet, Pegasus - a low-cost-carrier - has applied to the ISE to go public, with the company's 34.2 mn lot shares to be floated at the ISE, with 31.3% free float.

Negotiations continue for Nuclear plant in Sinop... According to daily Aksam, negotiations between Japanese Toshiba and the Turkish Government are continuing for the planned Nuclear power plant in Sinop. Accordingly, the State-run Electricity Generation Company aims to participate in the planned Nuclear power plant with between a 20%-40% stake, while Toshiba targets to lower the electricity selling price by up to US$ 10 cents.
